The Chateau La Gordonne is one of the largest properties in Provence with over 865 acres, 741 of which are vines. The terroir of Pierrefeu in the Massif des Maures is an exceptional site. The high-quality terroir gives a rich aroma that differs according to the grape varietals planted at the property.
It's a well-balanced blend of Grenache, Syrah and Cinsault that is fruity and rounded yet lifted by bright acidity. The grapes are sourced from the oldest parcels on the property, some are more than 50 years old. La Chapelle Gordonne rosé is a wine with a beautiful lychee-pink color, very pale. The nose has great finesse. Pink grapefruit and linden blossom notes reveal this wine’s very rich mineral quality in a poetic evocation of the sun rising over the Provence garrigue on a summer day.

On the palate, the wine is ample and balanced around sensations of freshness, delicacy and sweetness. It is bursting with small fresh fruits such as the arbutus berries on the wooded hillsides of the schist terroir of the Château la Gordonne. The long, pleasant finish expresses the finesse and flavour of a wild strawberry sorbet.
In its beautiful setting of a natural amphitheater of shale, the Château La Gordonne vineyard enjoys a special microclimate. Its winters are not harsh and the summers are hot and dry, sometimes scorching, which means that the vines can soak up all the ardor of the Provençal sun, with 3000 hours of sunshine a year.

Vines grow on a limestone and clay plain and on the shale slopes. The soil has little humus and is permeable, shallow, stony and well-drained, bringing together the ideal conditions for the vines to flourish.

A wide range of typical Provence grape varieties grow on our estate – we cultivate Grenache, Cinsault, Cabernet Sauvignon, Mourvedre, Cabernet Tibouren and Clairette, Semillon and Syrah grapes. These noble grape varieties allow us to produce rosé, white and red wines, all of them with the AOC Côtes de Provence appellation.

HISTORICAL HERITAGE
DOMAINE ROYAL DE JARRAS IN AIGUES-MORTES

The terroir of Domaine Royal de Jarras is unique: the vines are planted in the sand and coexist with an exceptional fauna and flora. The Petite Camargue, where the estate is located, is a site which is classified as Natura 2000 on a European level because of the rarity and fragility of the wild animal and vegetal species it contains.
The Camargue region is well-known for its magnificent landscapes as well as its typical flora and fauna: Pink Flamingo being its emblem as Camargue hosts the largest colony in the world.

One less well-known fact is that it is home to a remarkable vineyard: the Vineyard of the Sands. The vines are in fact planted in the sand and coexist with an exceptional biodiversity.

To protect those wild animal and vegetal species, the grounds are cultivated traditionally, without using any herbicides.

The main vine stock at Domaine Royal de Jarras is Grenache gris. The juice obtained after pressing this grape varietal has a unique «pink grey» colour, which gives it its «gris de gris» name.

Imbued with maritime character and in the very heart of wild nature, Sables de Camargue wines are characterized by their finesse, their delicateness, their lightness.

THE VRANKEN-POMMERY ESTATE IN REIMS

Built in the XIXth century by Madame Pommery, the domain stands tall on 50 hectares of grounds, with 120 gallo-roman chalk cellars, over 11 miles of cellars in which 25 million bottles are stored and one legendary staircase with its 116 steps is leading down to the Pommery treasure.
Since 2003, Experience Pommery has welcomed more than 400 artists from the international contemporary scene to present their art in the cellars. This commitment to support creation is a central component of the culture of VRANKEN-POMMERY MONOPOLE. The company has been awarded the title of “Grand Patron of Culture”, a state recognition awarded by the Ministry of Culture for the patronage activities of the Group vis a vis large national and international institutions.
In 1858, when she took over as head of Pommery et Greno upon her husband’s death, Madame Pommery began expanding her company with a focus on creating wines that were like no other. She was driven by the constant standard for extreme quality. She was aware of the importance of grape origin to wine quality; over the years, she built up one of the finest vineyards in Champagne.

In 1874, Pommery invented the Brut Champagne. “Damas, we need a wine that is as dry as possible, but without rigidity... It should be soft and velvety on the palate... Above all, make sure it has finesse.”

It was a revolution in Champagne. It was met with sarcasm and disbelief. But it was an unprecedented success. Under Madame Pommery’s impetus, the Pommery style became known as ‘full of finesse and cheery lightness’.

Cuvée Louise was created in 1979, and as Madame Pommery would have demanded, this prestige cuvee is a product of the very best plots in the Pommery vineyards.

Cuvée Louise is an absolutely pure wine which quintessentially conveys the wine-making expertise of the Pommery champagne house. Cuvée Louise originates in the vineyards of Avize, Cramant and Aÿ, three “Grands Crus” areas that are jewels in the crown of the Champagne region.

Cuvée Louise is placed in the heart of our cellars of chalk where it is allowed to age and develop, slowly and naturally for more than 10 years to obtain serenity to its inimitable taste.
